The RHA's Commitment to Funding Culturally Responsive Services

In conjunction with the Seattle Race and Social Justice Initiative (RSJI), which is a citywide effort to end institutionalized racism and race-based inequities in Seattle, the RHA has developed investment principles that reflect our commitment to funding culturally responsive services to create positive outcomes for service recipients. Contracted agencies are expected to demonstrate the capacity to institute these principles through routine delivery of participant-centered and strength-based services that are culturally:

COMPETENT, as demonstrated by "the ability to honor, understand, and respect beliefs, lifestyles, attitudes, and behaviors demonstrated by diverse groups of people, and to diligently act on that understanding". It is "the ability to function effectively in the midst of cultural differences. It includes knowledge of cultural differences, awareness of one's own cultural values, and ability to consistently function with members of other cultural groups".

RESPONSIVE to the cultural and linguistic needs of diverse populations. Agencies have the capacity to effectively serve and engage persons of diverse backgrounds. Agencies commit to practicing cultural responsiveness throughout all levels of the program, including policy, governance, staffing, and service model and delivery. Agencies make every effort to recruit and retain a workforce (paid and voluntary), and policy-setting and decision-making bodies that are reflective of the focus populations.

RELEVANT in addressing the cultural needs of diverse populations whose models of engagement or cultural standards differ from mainstream practices. Agencies are staffed with people who have the cultural competency to create authentic and effective relationships and provide culturally responsive services for members of specific cultural groups and/or communities of color. Commitment and experience of the agency reflects effective, mutually beneficial relationships with other organizations (such as grassroots or community-based organizations, churches, community networks, etc.) that are reflective of the populations being served.

ACCESSIBLE through language, location, and delivery style. Agencies have the capacity to overcome mainstream barriers and/or provide effective alternative strategies that enable service recipients to easily access mainstream and nontraditional programs and services.

EXHIBIT A-1
GOALS AND OBJECTIVES

INTRODUCTION

The King County Regional Homelessness Authority ("RHA") was created to unify and coordinate the administration of funding, policy, and services for people experiencing or at imminent risk of homelessness in the King County region. The RHA derives authority from an interlocal agreement between the City of Seattle and King County, and is legislatively charged with building and implementing a regional response system, driven by data and incorporating best practices, that is accountable to its customers.

The RHA's mission is to significantly decrease the incidence of homelessness through King County, using equity and social justice principles. The RHA's theory of change is that if we create a homelessness response system, that centers the customer voice (the voices of those who have lived experience of homelessness), then we will be able to focus on responding to needs and eliminating inequities, in order to end homelessness for all.

Policies should include components on universal precautions, blood/airborne pathogens, tuberculosis (TB) and other infectious diseases. The policies must have been developed in consultation with and/or reviewed by Public Health–Seattle and King County. TB policies should follow guidelines made available in the Tuberculosis Prevention and Control Guidelines for Homeless Service Agencies in Seattle-King County, Washington.

- The program must inform staff and volunteers prior to hire or service of health risks they may encounter in working at the program, such as TB or other communicable diseases. The program should have a practice of encouraging staff and volunteers to update their immunizations per the Centers for Disease Control's recommendations for adult immunizations. In addition, staff and volunteers should have TB tests based on results of agency self-assessments outlined in the Tuberculosis Prevention and Control Guidelines for Homeless Service Agencies in Seattle-King County, Washington.

- The program will have a complete and accessible First Aid Kit that is stocked with sufficient supplies.

- The program must have a process for internal reporting and reviewing of health and safety incidents. It is highly recommended that agencies have a safety committee or similar vehicle through which to process incident reports.

- The program will have appropriate emergency, evacuation, and fire safety plans and will provide ongoing training to staff on these plans.

- The program will have a phone available during hours of operation to report emergencies.

- The program will handle and store all hazardous materials including cleaning supplies appropriately.

- The program will have a plan and process for safeguarding against client abuse, which includes reporting such abuses should they occur.

- The program will have a security plan to deter theft and harm to clients and staff. A weapons policy designed to ensure the safety and security of all clients and staff must be included in this plan.

- Educational training for all staff and volunteers must be provided as often as necessary to reinforce safe work practices, but at least annually.

- The program is strongly encouraged to have at least one person always certified in First Aid and CPR on duty.

Food Safety and Nutrition

- When food service is provided in the program, it must be prepared, handled, and stored in a sanitary manner to prevent the spread of food-borne illness, as per the Public Health-Seattle & King County guidelines. This includes foods prepared on site, foods brought to the program from another location, and donated foods.
- The shelter should make efforts to provide nutritious food and respond to dietary needs of program participants, which could include special medical, ethno-cultural, and religious diets.
- The program serving foods with potential allergens, such as peanuts, nits and shellfish, must alert program participants.

Environment/Physical Facility

- The program must meet local zoning, building, housing, occupancy, fire, health, and safety codes.

- The program must provide at minimum a mat, bed, or cot for each client. A process must be in place to sanitize mats on a regular basis and always between uses by different clients. There must be a process to ensure bedding is laundered regularly, and that blankets are always changed between uses by different clients.

- Facilities must be kept in a safe and sanitary condition and be in good repair and maintenance.

- Restroom facilities and washbasins, with appropriate hygienic supplies and/or equipment, must be provided in an appropriate number and configuration for the type of facility and its capacity in accordance with local codes. The program must have hot and cold running water.

- The program is strongly encouraged to have hand-cleaning stations, such as dispensers of alcohol-based hand sanitizer, near entry doors and/or reception desks.

- The program must have a policy for handling sharps (injection equipment, hypodermic needles, and other instruments used to pierce the skin), and as appropriate provide sharps containers in the environment and ensure appropriate disposal.

- The program must have policies regarding storage for program participants' belongings. Whenever possible, the program should provide secure storage for program participants while they are utilizing services. Programs may determine they do not provide assistance with storage, and that program participants are fully responsible for their own belongings. If this is the case, the program should have a policy stating this. If the shelter does provide space for storage, the shelter must have an appropriate policy detailing storage administration!

Homeless Housing Project Model

Emergency Services

Emergency Services projects provide immediate and low barrier access through a Housing First approach. Emergency services will be provided through basic and enhanced overnight and daytime shelter (including up to 24-hour shelter), basic day centers, and basic hygiene services. Enhanced hours can be provided through a single-site project operated by one agency, or through two projects (such as an overnight shelter and daytime shelter) operated by one agency or operated jointly by two agencies in a partnership. Emergency services should be housing-focused and are not intended to provide a long-term living situation. Services can be provided through either a basic or enhanced model, and more detail can be found below.

Population	Populations include households fitting the RHA definition of literal homelessness including families, individuals, youth, young adults, or individuals fleeing domestic violence. Projects primarily serve people coming from an unsheltered situation. Projects should provide appropriate accommodations for the population to be served, including meeting the needs of a couple's young adults, intergenerational families, families of choice, and families with adult children.
Project Access	Projects should clearly describe the method of access to the project, including specifics on how the project will ensure a seamless transition from the referral source, and ongoing coordination with services the client may be co-enrolled in (ex. Rapid Re-Housing), as appropriate. Emergency Shelters: Emergency Shelters should prioritize access in this order: 1. Right of return 2. Outreach referral (if no other funder-designated set asides) 3. Other referral (hospital discharge, etc.) 4. Self-referral
Eligibility Requirements	Eligibility varies and depends on the funding sources supporting the project. In general, projects should operate under a housing first, low barrier model with minimal or no requirements for entry. Emergency Shelters: Criteria must align with the standardized screening criteria guidance adopted by the All-Home Funder Alignment Committee.
Eligible Use of Funds	The cost of project operations, personnel services, light-touch information and referral, and flexible funding to meet client needs are eligible expenses. For Enhanced Projects, eligible expenses are the costs listed above as well as intensive supportive services, including housing navigation, mental/behavioral health, etc. Financial supports to assist residents in moving directly to housing (used in accordance with Diversion funding guidelines) are also included.

Recommended Staff Roles and Staffing Levels	Basic Projects: ● Basic operations staffing, to ensure safety ● Diversion – front door diversion for people prior to entering the shelter, for those where an appropriate alternative can be identified can be identified. Enhanced Projects: ● Staffing identified in Basic projects, above ● Case management: Services appropriate to the identified shelter model which support rapid transitions to housing. Services can be either funded through the proposed project or leveraged through another project. ● Housing Navigation: Facilitate housing search and placement, either directly or in partnership with another housing project (such as RRH), appropriate to the level of client need.
Core Components/Best Practices	● Basic health and safety needs are addressed including food, clothing, and personal hygiene. In addition, some level of amenities such as locking storage, access to kitchen facilities, showers and laundry are provided. ● Rules are minimal and are designed to promote the psychical and emotional safety of clients and staff in the least restrictive manner possible. When rules are not followed, clients are offered additional support to adjust their behavior and be successful in the program. ● Participation in services is not required. ● Housing-focused services are provided, connecting participants with CEA and alternative housing options as appropriate and assisting individuals with gathering needed documentation to assist with access to housing. ○ Projects should have a clear vision around how they fit within the homeless service system, including where clients come from prior to entry, where they will exit to, and what supportive services are needed while in shelter. This includes how projects will coordinate with other service providers (such as RRH) to coordinate care for clients, avoid duplication of services and support exits to permanent housing. ○ For projects focused on exits to permanent housing, all participants are considered “housing ready” upon project entry. ● Shelter models vary and may have either fixed or flexible capacity ● Shelters are indoors and range from mats on the floor or bunks in a common space to beds in individual units. Some shelters operate only overnight while others operate extended hours up to 24/7. RHA will prioritize projects that offer either 24/7 access or extended hours. ● Offer right of return, without the need to line up, for all or a high percentage of beds.

Enhanced Services	RHA strongly recommends day and hygiene services be integrated with daytime and evening shelter projects and include services that support exits to permanent housing. RHA will prioritized enhanced and coordinated day/night services, to provide 24/7 seamless services and support. Enhanced Shelters: tend to be 24-hours or have extended overnight hours, provide bunks, offer full amenities, and have a low to medium case manager to participant ratio. Projects will provide intensive services that focus on housing search and placement. Enhanced Day Shelters: can include day and/or hygiene centers. Projects should provide intensive services that focus on housing search and placement, and access to full amenities.
System Performance Indicators (Performance targets and minimum standards)	Service Level Targets/Minimum Standards: ● Exit Rate to PH: SA- 50%/40% & Family- 80%/65% & YYA- 50%/35% ● Length of Stay: SA/Family- 30 days/90 days & YYA- 20 days/30 days ● Return Rate to Homelessness: SA/Family- 8%/10% & YYA- 5%/20% ● Entries from Homelessness: 90% ● Utilization Rate: SA/Family- 95%/85% & YYA- 95%/90% Service Level Targets: Basic Day and Hygiene Centers ● Number of monthly services uses as proposed RFP submission
